

Equipment list bodily hygiene and beautification

Disposable razor (pre War)	A cheap piece of plastics with an equally cheap piece of blade attached to it. It's best not to even think about going against the grain with this.	5 $ 0,1 pound
Safety razor with exchangeable blades (pre War)	A master piece of shaving technology and another proof of the extravagance of the pre War society. The durable piece is the grip, the blade (often, there were even several blades at once) can be exchanged at will.	30 $ grip 25 $ blade s.a. 0,5 po.
Folding razor	Before the War only used by connoisseurs of the fine arts and the last barbers, after the War, they have started making them new, because they are easier to produce than safety razors with exchangeable blades. Available in all forms, from simple plastics shells up to ivory shells with Damascene blades.	s.a. 15 $ s.a. 0,7 pounds
Manicure set	For cared for hands, that want to make a good impression.	s.a. 20 $ 0,5 pounds
Shampoo	Good for the hairs, good for the scalp and in many cases even good against dandruff. A true luxury item.	s.a. 30 $ 1 pound
Soap	Soap is the must have of body hygiene articles. Available in the most diverse variations, from almond soap to simple curd soap.	s.a. 10 $ 0,5 pounds
Deep conditioner	For strained hair that has gone through some rough times. And for that distinctive glow that you normally only get with Gamma Gulp Beer.	s.a. 40 $ 0,2 pounds
Nail scissors/nail clippers	The basic equipment for basic foot and hand nail care.	s.a. 20 $ 0,1 pounds
Perfume	Smelling nice is still desirable in the Wasteland. Expensive perfumes from before the Great War is worth it's weight in gold, but even after the War, there are some here and there, that produce special fragrances.	s.a. 50 $ 0,2 pounds
Deodorant	Whether as an aerosol or one one to roll on, deodorants are, like perfumes, quite desirable, but not quite as expensive.	s.a. 25 $ 0,3 pounds
Pack of paper handkerchiefs	A pack of paper handkerchiefs to wipe one's nose. Exclusively a pre War product.	s.a. 15 $ 0,1 pounds
Cloth handkerchief	A big, square piece of cloth to wipe one's nose. High society uses silk ones, often even with monogram.	s.a. 5 $ 0,1 pounds
Nail file	Another instrument used to beautify the hands.	s.a. 15 $ 0,1 pounds
lipstick/mascara/ other Make-Up	A load of pre War products used to beautify the female face. May grant a +10 bonus on beguile/seduce .	s.a. 15 $ s.a. 0,1 po.
Epilator	Meant for hair removal at the legs (and other body parts). Shaved legs may possibly grant a +10 bonus to beguile/seduce .	s.a. 50 $ s.a. 1 po.

Hair removal wax	Wax used to remove hair on all conceivable body parts. Also produced after the War. Very painful. Shaved legs may grant a +10 bonus to beguile/seduce .	s.a. 10 $ 0,3 pounds
Toilet paper	Do I really have to explain that? A luxury item, post War production started pretty soon. But nothing is more comfortable than the expensive four-ply paper from before the War.	s.a. 5 $ 0,3 pounds (roll)
Tooth pick	A hundred piece pack of tooth picks. Supposedly they deforested whole forests, back before the War, just for such a silly thing as dental hygiene.	s.a. 10 $ 0,1 pounds
Toothbrush &amp; Toothpaste	Most fundamental tools of dental hygiene. Available in various levels of quality, from simple post War products to the deluxe whitening and gum protecting toothpaste.	s.a. 20 $ 0,3 pounds
