

Musical instruments

Wind instruments:

Recorder	Long piece of wood with holes and embouchure. Used to be the family christmas entertainment.	s.a. 50 $
Transverse flute	Even though it's mostly made of metal, it counts as a wooden wind instrument. It's often used in Jazz, too.	s.a. 55 $
Clarinet	Is related to the saxophone. Very robust instrument, that's easy to transport.	s.a. 60 $
Drum pipe	Small, easily learned variant of the recorder, that's often used by military personnel.	s.a. 45 $
Oboe	„loud wood“, the name says it all.	s.a. 100 $
Basoon	The big brother of the oboe. A pretty bulky thing.	s.a. 150 $
Pan's pipes	Wooden pipes of differing lengths that have been stapled together.	s.a. 15 $
Trumpet	A brass wind with valves.	s.a. 100 $
Fanfare	A brass wind without valves, that can only play the tones of the harmonic series.	s.a. 30 $
Horn	A simple brahmin horn. Often used by wild tribes as a signal horn.	s.a. 10 $
Post horn	Similar to the fanfare, one can only play the sounds of the harmonic series on this. In the wasteland it's often used as a signal horn.	s.a. 25 $
Tuba	As the deepest of the common brass wind instruments, the tuba isn't that different from the trumpet – at least in layman's eyes.	s.a. 75 $
Saxophone	It looks like a brass wind, but really belongs to the wood winds, due to it's architecture and the method of tone production.	s.a. 100 $
Digeridoo	A long, hollowed piece of wood. Not only popular in Australia.	s.a. 30 $
Harmonica	Small, but loud, this is a favorite among musically inclined travellers.	s.a. 5 $
Trombone	Due to a lever a fluid transition between notes is possible.	s.a. 80 $
Clarion	Another signal horn, that only produces the notes of the harmonic series. The clarion is rather small and used to be used by the military.	s.a. 30 $
Bagpipes	For when it's too much trouble, to hogtie ten cats together and throw 'em in a sack...	s.a. 150 $

Percussion instruments:

Military drums	Still used by some post War militaries, for example the NCR Rangers, for ceremonial purposes.	s.a. 20 $
Glockenspiel	A xylophone, but made from metal.	s.a. 15 $
Tambourine	A rather simple instrument, often with some small bells attached.	s.a. 10 $
Triangle	Maybe the simplest musical instrument to learn.	s.a. 5 $
Bongos	Small, African drums. Not only popular with wild Tribes.	s.a. 45 $
Timbal	A not too big copper kettle, stringed with synthetic material or animal skin. Comes often in a double pack or even four units at once.	s.a. 60 $
Cajón	Due to it's form, this musical instrument is also called the box drum. This is a simple to learn, but sonorous instrument.	s.a. 55 $
Castanets	Perfect to accompany a salsa.	s.a. 15 $
Djembé	An originally African cup drum. It's corpus consists of a hollowed out tree trunk.	s.a. 70 $
Gong	A big metal disk made of brass, often in a convex form.	s.a. 55 $
Steel Pan	A musical instrument created on Trinidad, that is made from old oil barrrels.	s.a. 100 $
Xylophone	Similar to the Glockenspiel, but completely made from wood.	s.a. 10 $
Metallophone	Another musical instrument, that's very similar to the Glockenspiel.	s.a. 20 $
Dulcimer	Looks like a crossbreed between guitar and xylophone. Dulcimers belong to the percussion instruments.	s.a. 30 $
Conga	A one skinned barrel drum from Cuba.	s.a. 80 $
Rattle	Not only popular as a baby toy.	s.a. 3 $
Ratchet	This musical instrument is not only used by sports fans and cowboys. There really are musicians that specialize on it.	s.a. 12 $
Bells/brackets	Similar to the tambourine, but without a skin.	s.a. 7 $
Drum kit	For all occasions on which one wants to annoy one's neighbors.	s.a. 200 $
Cymbal	Slightly convex metal disks, sometimes a part of a drum kit, but also found by themselves quite often.	s.a. 50 $

String- / plucking instruments:

Guitar	Available as a classical guitar and as a steel string guitar. The steel string guitar has only metal strings.	s.a. 100 $
Bass guitar	No, really, you can play more notes than just E on this.	s.a. 120 $
violin	A sting instrument that takes a lot of time and patience. Otherwise, it'll just sound like a cat in heat.	s.a. 150 $
Cello	The violin's big sister.	s.a. 170 $
Contrabass	Not only used as a string instrument. It's quite popular as the underlying bass in Jazz music.	s.a. 200 $
Harp	An old, spherical instrument. When hearing a harp the image of angels immediately comes to mind.	s.a. 55 $
Banjo	A very popular instrument in the pre War US. Has a very metallic sound.	s.a. 85 $
Ukulele	Looks like the child of a guitar. Has four strings.	s.a. 65 $
Lyre	Known since ancient times. A small stringed instrument with a resonating box.	s.a. 180 $
Stroh violin	The bastard son of a violin and a gramophone.	s.a. 230 $

Keyboard instruments:

Piano	The probably most common keyboard instrument.	s.a. 600 $
Grand piano	The big brother of the normal piano.	s.a. 1000 $
Accordion	Looks a bit like the little brother of a piano.	s.a. 700 $

The rest:

Jaw harp	Perfect for that special Spaghetti Western atmosphere.	s.a. 25 $
Theremin	Maybe the rarest musical instrument of the Wastes. Certainly the freakiest one.	s.a. 250 $
